LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

A Large and Enthusiastic Audience. Many Speeches.

Pursuant to a call a large crowd assembled at the court house last night to discuss the dispensary matter. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Beall, who in well chosen words explained the object of the meeting, which was for an interchange of views and a full and free expression of opinion on the matter, both pro and con.

Prof. Claxton was the first speaker. He said the dispensary was not a new idea nor an experiment. It has been in use a long time in Switzerland, Norway and Sweden and in those countries, it is claimed, drunkenness has been reduced 75 per cent. "We cannot," said Mr. Claxton, "save all the old habitual drunkards; but we can avoid making so many new ones." His speech was well received and applauded.

Mr. R. W. Brooks made a few remarks, stating a number of facts about the actual results of the dispensary operations in Fayetteville and other places. He was opposed to the movement when first introduced in South Carolina, but since he has seen its benefits and advantage over the open saloon he is heartily in favor of it.

J. Van Lindley called attention particularly to the fact that the dispensary must be closed between sunset and sunrise. He believed this fact alone would insure much less drunkenness. He said he was just from Raleigh and was present when the Fayetteville dispensary matter was taken up and that the house voted, without a dissenting voice, so far as he was able to hear, to continue the dispensary in Fayetteville. This announcement was received by a storm of applause. Mr. Lindley spoke of his own knowledge, regarding the change of sentiment in South Carolina in favor of the dispensary.

Sam Browne said he was like the Irishman who had had his gun since it was a pistol, in that he had been a temperance man since he was a boy; but that he was in favor of the dispensary because it was the best thing in sight. He don't think we could carry prohibition and wants the next best thing to it. Mr. Browne's speech was greatly enjoyed for its originality and force.

W. C. Boren spoke in favor of the dispensary.

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court R. M. Douglas was present and made a strong and earnest plea for the dispensary, and gave the best of reasons why he favored it.

Professor Claxton asked if there was on record, a single instance where a dispensary once established had ever been repealed or discontinued. Mr. Lindley replied to this by saying the nearest such a thing was ever reached was in the Fayetteville case where the house voted unanimously in favor of its retention.

J. Norman Wills made an eminently sensible and practical talk in favor of the dispensary as the best means obtainable for dealing with the whiskey question.

Prof. Joyner endorsed the movement. There were many others present who would have spoken but for lack of time, and the meeting adjourned to meet again in the court house on Thursday (tomorrow) night. Everybody, both for and against, invited and a full discussion asked. Let every one keep this meeting in mind. Tomorrow night at the court house.

At the Opera House.

The Rentfrow's are certainly sustaining their reputation of being one of the best repertoire companies on the road. A full house greeted them in the "Devil's Gold Mine" last night and the play was thoroughly enjoyed. It was better if possible than the opening bill which was complimented so highly.

Tonight "Old Glory" will be put on and is said to be even stronger than the play last night. The Rentfrow aggregation is composed of clever people in every respect and are giving first class shows. If they continue through the week as they have started they may feel sure of a hearty reception in Greensboro at any time.

Civil Engineer J. L. Ludlow, and Messrs. Shem Meredith, J. D. Terry, W. A. Terry, George F. Brown and W. T. Woolen, his surveyors and assistants, of Winston, passed through the city at noon goning to Charleston S. C., where Mr. Ludlow has contracted to put in a sewerage system. They took dinner at the Allen.

WASHINGTON CITY NEWS

Efforts To Again Call Up Contested Election Cases.

BUTLER SUGGESTS A CHANGE.

Ex-Postmaster General Wilson, of Virginia, Was In The City Yesterday—Opposed to Expansion.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 25—It is stated by republicans on the committee on elections, No. 3, that another effort may be made to take up the Brown-Swanson case. As the bill for the reorganization of the army is now before the house, and will not be disposed of, under the arrangement entered into yesterday, until Tuesday afternoon, there will be no chance to call the case up for some time. Ex-Representative Brown, the contestant, is still in Washington, and he says that he will remain here for some time. He is anxious that the committee on elections should give him another opportunity to get his case before the house. There is no reason to believe, if the motion is made to take the case up that the result will be any different from that of last week, as many republicans who then voted against consideration announce that they will not change their votes.

It is said that efforts will be made to get the Murray-Elliot contest, involving the right to the latter's seat from the first South Carolina district, out of the committee on elections and get it taken up in the house. The belief is, however, that Elliot will retain his seat for the remainder of this congress. As in the case of Brown against Swanson, many republicans will vote, if the case against Elliot is taken up by the house, against the seating of Murray.

At the war department it was announced yesterday morning that the leave of absence of Captain J E. Willard had expired, and he has gone back to Havana. Captain Willard and wife have been sojourning for some time in Florida. Mrs. Willard, it is reported, will remain in the state of Florida for some time before returning to this section.

The senate committee on naval affairs yesterday took up the naval personnel bill for consideration. The bill passed the house last week. It is believed that the bill will be reported to the senate before long.

Senator Butler, of North Carolina, opposed the principle of amalgamating the engineers with the line of officers. He based his objections largely upon the fact that the greater European powers had not made this change. The bill, however, will not be changed as suggested by Senator Butler, for as far as could be learned he was the only senator opposing the plan.

Among prominent Virginia people in the city yesterday was ex-postmaster General Wilson, who was at the Metropolitan Hotel surrounded by a group of acquaintances. He took the train later in the day for Lexington. Mr. Wilson, since he has assumed the presidency of the University at Lexington, has not taken an active participation in politics, though he has by no means lost his interest in political events. Like his chief, Ex-President Cleveland, in whose cabinet he was a conspicuous member, Mr. Wilson is opposed to the annexation policy, and believes that the adding of the Philippine Islands to our National domain would be a serious blunder.

The vote on the army reorganization bill will be taken next Tuesday afternoon. Representatives White, Linney and Pearson will probably vote for the bill, while the remainder of the delegation are opposed to it.

Several southern senators were at the white house yesterday. Senator Pettus called in the interest of Capt. Shelby, Alabama, for the new circuit judgeship. Among other callers were senators Caffrey and McEnnery, of Louisiana.

Solution of The Problem.

Mr. Editor: The Fayetteville dispensary in less than one year has run out of Cumberland courty thirteen whiskey distilleries, and has about, so I am informed, chained the "blind tiger." I believe that the dispensary is the solution of the liquor problem until the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ gets a stronger foothold where saloon flourishes and is practiced by those who profess it. Three church members, men of integrity, like the dispensary commissioners in Fayetteville, as a board of management, will do more, at the head of a dispensary in any town to hold in check the liquor business than local option laws not backed by public sentiment. The dispensary any time in preference to the open saloon. Trojan.

CRAIG'S BILL PASSES.

Makes Domestic Corporations Out of Foreign.

In the house yesterday Mr. Craig's bill making foreign corporations domestic under the laws of the state and requiring all such corporations to take out license and file their papers of incorporation with the secretary of state, was made a special order of business. Mr. Craig addressed the house in support of the bill, which he stated, he had introduced in accordance with a provision of the democratic state platform. Every corporation doing business in the state should become a legal corporation in this state, Mr. Craig contended. They should be treated with exact justice, just as all other corporations incorporated by the state. The bill comes here as the unanimous report of the committee and without the objection of any corporation or any person.

Mr. Willard wanted to know what would become of the Federal courts if every state in the union adopted such a measure. Mr. Craig said that he supposed they would be regulated to their old duties of trying whiskey cases. Mr. Foushee spoke in favor of the bill. Mr. Boushall, of Wake, said that he did not believe that this legislature would do any incorporation an injustice. This bill, he said, was aimed at certain corporations which were evading the laws of the state. He wanted to know if it would reach those very corporations. He wanted to know if the limitations relating to inter-state commerce would not defeat the object of the bill. He asked Mr. Craig if the bill would reach corporations doing an inter-state business. Mr. Craig declared that the bill had been investigated by a number of leading lawyers in the state and they declared that it would reach all corporations. Mr. Boushall said he thought the bill would impose hardships on some of the smaller corporations and at the same time fail to reach those for whom it was intended.

An aye and nay vote was taken when the bill came up for passage. Mr. Boushall voted against the bill. He stated that he cast his vote against it because he was of the opinion that it would not reach the foreign corporations engaging in inter-state commerce.

In voting "aye" Mr. Rountree declared that he believed the bill would fail in its object. He said he did not believe it would reach corporations doing an inter-state business.

The bill passed its second reading by a vote of 90 to 4. Those who voted against it were Messrs. Boushall of Wake; Pritchard, of Mitchell; Willard, of New Hanover, and Yarboro, of Caswell. There was no objection when it came up on its third reading and it passed without dissent.—Charlotte Observer.

THE EAGAN CASE.

Court-Martial Trial Began This Morning at the Ebbitt House.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 25—The trial of General Eagan began this morning at the Ebbitt House. General Wesley Merritt, president, called the members to order. Judge Advocate Davis read the order convening the court. Attorney Worthington represented the defendant. All members of the court were present when the charges and specifications were read.

General Eagan responded to the specifications of the first charge, not guilty; not denying, however, the specifications set forth, which he admits are correct as to part of the language used. To specifications in the second charge, not guilty; not denying, however, that the specifications set forth correctly part of the language used.

Judge Advocate Davis remarked to the court that the plea was unusual as the defendant pleaded not guilty with qualifications and did not deny the specifications set forth as to part of the statement made. Col. Davis explained that this admission didn't relieve the prosecution from proving the language had been used.

Mr. Worthington, for the defense, stated the plea was made advisedly, believing the accused was entitled to have the prosecution set forth everything he said in his statement. Mr. Worthington also claimed the protection promised in the instructions from the president.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 25, 1899.

The dispensary movement in Greensboro is gaining frfends by the hour. The size of the meeting at the court house last night and the interest manifested, was particularly gratifying to all friends and supporters of the movement.

The action of the house of representatives yesterday on the Fayetteville dispensary matter was a complete victory for the friends of that system. The dispensary has been proven beyond all doubt to be far preferable, for many reasons and from every standpoint, to the open saloon system.

In answer to Rev. J. F. McCulloch's card, printed elsewhere today we desire to ask him if it would not be restricting the business to reduce the number of barrooms from nine to one? Would it not be still greater restriction to close that one at sundown and open it at sunrise? We honor Mr. McCulloch's motives and intentions; "but fear that he does not sufficiently realize what he is doing." He seems to be piling stones in the way of securing what has been proven to be the best means of handling the question of the sale of liquor. He will probably be surprised to learn that the saloon men are after copies of the paper containing his letter of yesterday to use as campaign thunder in favor of retaining the present open saloon system.

THE DISPENSARY MATTER.

Letter From a Prominent Methodist Minister.

The following letter appeared in the Morning Post of yesterday. Coming from so high and responsible a source it is a valuable addition to the convincing argument the Telegram has heretofore printed in favor of the dispensary:

Editor Morning Post:—

I have been all my life in favor of prohibiting the whiskey traffic; and I have given much thought to the question. While stationed at Fayetteville I had the opportunity of watching the effect of the dispensary law, and I have come to the conclusion that this is about the best solution of the whiskey question, for the following reasons:

1. There is a natural demand for some spirituous liquors, and if this demand is not met in a lawful way, it will be obtained unlawfully; and when there is a beginning made to get whiskey clandestinely there is no end to the unlawful traffic. For this reason absolute prohibition has not been a success.

The dispensary meets this demand in the best way possible, in my opinion. It puts the traffic in the hands of officers of the law, and if good men are secured for commissioners, and a law-abiding dispensor is put in charge of the business, the evil may be kept under such restraint as to eliminate the worst features of the whiskey traffic.

2. The treating custom is broken up, and one of the worst evils of whiskey drinking is at once eliminated. It is all a mistake to say as some do that there is as much drinking done from a dispensary as there is in an open saloon. The open saloon, run day and night, with a back door easy of access on Sunday, is the worst evil that ever afflicted civilized society. It is a great gain to get rid of the social influence in the saloon, by which drunkards are made. If we can do away with this feature of the drink habit we have made a great gain. We do this in the establishment of the dispensary.

3. Night drinking and sitting around a barroom, is another source of evil that is broken up by the dispensary. That there are some who will buy whiskey and take it to their rooms, and drink it at night, I admit; but what I contend for is, the evil is greatly diminished. Reforms of all kinds must work slowly. We cannot eradicate long standing evils from society instantly, and it is wise political economy to work along on such lines as will yield the best general results. It is manifest to any unprejudiced observer, that the dispensary is a step in the direction of removing the evil of barroom association and influence.

4. The dispensary removes the most powerful incentive to pursue the whiskey traffic, by removing the temptation to go into the business to make money out of the traffic. I doubt if any man sells whiskey because he loves to debauch his fellow men. He doesit for the money there is in it. Whatever profit there is in the business is made by the state under the dispensary system; and there is no incentive to press the business in the interest of anyone.

5. It removes the evil influence of the barroom from the politics of the com munity. I have known communities so thoroughly dominated by whiskey sellers that a good man, who opposed the traffic could not have been elected dog-killer among them. The dispensary puts an end to this influence; and thereby tends to the purification of local politics.

6. The dispensary properly managed, yields a larger revenue to the state than the licensed system; places the traffic under much better control; diminishes the drink habit, destroys much of the evil social influence of the open saloon, and stops to some extent the drunkard making business. For these reasons our legislature should give us a state dispensary law, and help the moral and religious force to do something in overthrowing this giant evil.

His Signature.

An elderly man stepped into a big hotel the other day, accompanied by his wife, and asked for a room. When the polite clerk gave him a pen and placed the register before him, he looked visibly embarrassed, but he took the pen and bent over the book as though he had nerved himself to some desperate task.

He started to write and then stopped and began to think. The clerk, of course, didn't know what the trouble was or else he would have volunteered his services. After a painful pause the ruralist started in to scratching some more.

After the expiration of fully five minutes the farmer threw down his pen with a sigh of relief, wiped the perspiration from his brow and rejoined his better half, who had been waiting in the lobby during the ordeal. The clerk was curious to see a signature that required such an unusual length of time to execute. The clerk is a solemn man, but he nearly went off into a fit when he saw, in big, round script, this legend:

"Me and Maria."—London Tit-Bits.

Society as a Reformer.

"Swearing is growing less, decidedly so," writes Edward Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "All students of men agree in this view, just as excessive alcoholic drinking is falling into disuse. The principal reason for the decline of both excessive swearing and drinking is that men are getting more and more careful to refrain from any habit which places their self control in peril. Society is constantly growing more impatient with a man who lacks equipoise, while the keener demands of business necessitates men being more moderate in all things. The basis of the change may be more material than spiritual, but the change is taking place irrespective of the character of the basis or motive."

"For Violin or Piano."

From the classical period we have received the most noble work which had been composed for the violin, a work which will always remain the Kohinoor of violin literature—Beethoven's concerto. In spite of this the master had occasion to write on the title page the words, ever saddening to the violinist, "Concerto For the Violin or Piano"—another proof of the old lack of a sufficient number of worthy performers, for only in view of such a want could Beethoven have made the work practicable for pianists.—Musical Courier.

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want the best medicine that can be obtained, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keepexpectoration easy.

You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only medicine in use that meets all of these requirements. This remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It has rivals, but, for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer and its splendid qualities are everywhe e admired and praised. For sale by C. E. Holton.

While trying to extinguish flames in lace curtains, Miss Jennie Moore, a society belle, was burned to death at San Francisco, Cal.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Elden, Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act. Howard Gardner.

The American Peace society has declared against annexation of the Philippines.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of the vital organs. If the liver is inactive you have a bilious look; if your stomach is disordered you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys are affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good alterative and tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys, purifies the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils, and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store. 50 cents per bottle.

The Kingmaker.

The Earl of Warwick, commonly called the "kingmakery" from the faculty with which he created and deposed monarchs during the contest between the house of York and Lancaster, lived in style of magnificence and hospitality of which no period perhaps furnishes an example. No less than 30,000 persons are said to have lived at his board in the different manors and castles which he possessed, and the military, allured by his hospitality as well as his bravery, were strongly attached to his interests. This distinguished warrior fell at the battle of Barnet in 1471, when, owing to the mistake of one part of his army falling upon the other during a fog, he was defeated by Edward IV.

In former battles Warwick had always fought on horseback, that he might at once ride along the line and perceive the particulars of the action, but on this occasion he determined to fight on foot, that his soldiers might see that he was resolved to share with them the dangers of the day. After having exerted himself as an officer and a hero in fruitless attempts to turn the tide of fortune in his favor he rushed into the hottest part of the battle and fell covered with wounds. His brother, Montacute, in endeavoring to save him met with a similar fate.—Nuggets.

Gold In Pyrites.

Experts in gold mining agree that pretty much the bottom fact now known about such metal is briefly that all original pyrites of small grain texture contain gold to a greater or less extent, this, of course, not covering such secondary large crystal pyritous deposits derived from veins. It is not yet known, however, whether the gold in these pyrites is in chemical combination with the sulphide of gold, or whether each minute particle of gold is simply covered with a coating of sulphide of iron, or finally whether such particles are in the metallic state, but alloyed with silver or other metal which combines more rapidly with sulphur than the gold does, and consequently forms a coat of sulphide of silver over the gold. The particles of gold are so minute and the combinations follow so rapidly during the splitting up of these pyrites that the finest instruments and tests known to chemistry have as yet been unable to settle this part of the question to the satisfaction of all concerned, this fact showing how easy it is to put in a mill that will not save the values.

Stupidity Rewarded.

This story is told of Sir Walter Scott, who was far from being a brilliant pupil at school: After he became famous he one day dropped into the old school to pay a visit to the scene of his former woes. The teacher was anxious to make a good impression on the writer and put the pupils through their lessons so as to show them to the best advantage. After awhile Scott said: "But which is the dunce? You have one surely. Show him to me."

The teacher called up a poor fellow who looked the picture of woe as he bashfully came toward the distinguished visitor.

"Are you the dunce?" asked Scott.

"Yes, sir," said the boy.

"Well, my good fellow," said Scott, "here is a crown for you for keeping my place warm."

A Prime Political Reason.

It was in the Newinton ward, where the candidate on the Liberal side was Mr. Ritchie, a well known confectioner and restaurateur, whose pies and rock were equally famous in Auld Reekie. After the poll the following conversation was heard between two workingmen who had just emerged from the voting station: "Weel, Tam, did ye vote for Ritchie?" "No," said the other, "I didna." "And what for no?" asked his astonished friend. "You're a Leeberal, are na' ye, and Ritchie's the Leeberal candidate?" "I ken that fine," retorted his companion impertnrbably, "but I niver could bear Ritchie's pies!" —New Century.

Salt Hay.

Salt hay is used in winter for coloring various kinds of plants that grow close to the earth. It has a long staple, and it serves this purpose well. Straw with long staple still is used for bundling up plants and shrubs having stalks. Salt hay is used in cemeteries to cover up ivy clad graves. The ivy is thus kept in better condition than if it were left exposed to the blasts and the cold of winter. The brown hay is laid lengthwise upon the grave in a covering of uniform thickness all over it, which is held in place by bent rods settled down upon it at intervals, hooplike, and with their ends in the ground on either side.

Political Wit.

The repartee of the political platform is frequently surpassed by the repartee of the crowd. Recently, at a Conservative meeting, a local politician "on the stump" declared, in vindication of his devotion to truth, that when a boy he had been thrashed by a mistaken father for telling it.

It was an ill mannered Democrat in the body of the hall who briskly replied, "I guess it's cured yer, guvner!" —London Chronicle.

A Conservative Verdict.

"He died through his own exertion, with some slight assistance from his neighbors," was the verdict of an early day coroner's jury in Ellsworth county after it had heard testimony to the effect that the vigilance committee had made a horse thief climb a ladder against a telegraph pole and jump off with a rope around his neck.—Kansas City Journal.

In Germany "von" implies nobility, and all persons who belong to the nobility prefix "von" to their family names without any exception.

The Boston Public library has a file of the London Times complete from 1800 to the present time.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe and its exhausting after effects. Never fails. Howard Gardner.

To Our Friends
and Patrons:

In closing our books for the year 1898 we find we have quite a number of small accounts which in themselves are trivial, but she aggregate would make quite a nice sum. While we wish to be obliging and courteous to our customers and try ro please all, we must insist upon getting our business upon more of a Cash Basis.

To open so many small accounts involves quite an amount of book keeping and consumes too much valuable time. This can bo avoided by paying cash for your bundle when delivered and do away with all possibility of disputed accounts.

Thanking our customers for their patronage in the past, and extending to each and every one the greetings of the season.

LOTTERIES AND LUCK

TRICKS THAT HAVE BEEN PLAYED BY FICKLE FORTUNE.

Some Instances That Aptly Illustrate the Truth of the Old Adage That There Is Many a Slip 'Twixt the Cup and the Lip.

There are few things with which romance is more closely connected than the distribution of lottery prizes, and there can be no doubt that we Britons are all the better off because of the illegality of holding lotteries in the United Kingdom. A big lottery must disappoint hundreds of thousands while it enriches one winner, who often finds that his hastily acquired wealth results in doing him more harm than good.

A short time ago the first prize in one of the Italian state lotteries, which amounted to some £8,000, fell to a peasant who, with his wife, had actually died of starvation within a few hours of the drawing of the prize.

Owing to a dream in which a peasant had the presentiment that a certain number would be on the ticket which would win the splendid prize, he scraped all his money together and purchased not the ticket he wanted, because it was already sold, but one which bore the same numerals, differently arranged. Then he and his wife fell on desperately hard times, which eventually closed upon them in death from sheer starvation, for he had tried and failed to sell his lottery chance, which was the last thing left to him.

When the drawing came on, he won the first prize of £8,000, but as he was dead and no next of kin could be discovered the prize was raffled for again, when it fell to swell the purse of an Italian banker who already was possessed of vast wealth.

A German lady living in Brunswick had a fancy that a certain ticket would win a prize in a lottery in which the first prize was £15,000. It may seem strange, but it is vouched for as being perfectly true, that she so altered her opinion as to the chances of her ticket winning a prize that she bartered it away for a new hat from her milliner within a few days of having purchased it.

This was a melancholy exception to the rule that "second thoughts are always best." The ticket which she had exchanged for a hat, possibly worth a couple of guineas, succeeded in capturing the first prize of £15,000, and the milliner, who considered he had run his risks, absolutely refused to palliate his customer's bitter disappointment by anything beyond the payment of a few pounds, which were dragged from him by hollow threats of legal action.

On one occasion the first prize in an Italian lottery, amounting to nearly £5,000, fell to a man who had died three days before the raffle, the second prize of £2,000 fell to a lady who had sold her lucky ticket at the eleventh hour, and the third prize of £1,000 to a private soldier who, on hearing of his good fortune, drank himself mad and then committed suicide. For want of claimants who could establish their claims satisfactorily, the first and third prizes were again raffled for, and this time they both fell to the same person—the owner of one of the largest private estates in Austria, who was quite indifferent about the addition to his already huge fortune.

Silly superstitions play an important part in the buying and selling of lottery tickets, and it is no uncommon thing for a person who fancies a certain number to buy it at a price equal to hundreds of times its original cost, and many of those who indulge in this kind of speculation with the fixed idea of gain generally discover that it is an expensive game.

A German banker conceived the idea that the first prize in a certain lottery would fall to the holder of a ticket on which the figure three stood either alone or with others. So greatly impressed was he with this belief that he bought up every ticket that bore the numeral three, a little deal which cost him some thousands of pounds, because many of the tickets he fancied were held by persons to whom he had to pay fancy prices.

One of these persons when approached on the matter refused to sell his ticket unless the banker purchased a complete bundle of 20, of which he was anxious to get rid. The banker did not wish to do this, as there was only one ticket bearing a three in the bundle, but he ultimately consented, took the ticket he wanted and gave the vender back all the others. Great must have been his annoyance on discovering later that the first prize had not fallen to him, but had been won by one of the tickets he had bought and scorned.—London Tit-Bits.

Nobody's Mother.

There is a story told on one of the circuits, which may or may not have seen the light of print already, of how not long ago a very young barrister rose to examine one of his witnesses with an unaccountably hazy notion of her identity. "I think that you are the prisoner's mother?" he began.

"Certainly not, sir," was the unexpected answer.

Turning hurriedly to his brief, he thought he had found the reason for her evident annoyance. "Ah, yes," he continued, "I see, you are the prosecutrix's mother?"

"Certainly not," came her reply, still more emphatically.

"Then whose mother are you?" he demanded, almost in despair, and she fairly boiled over with indignation as she retorted: "Nobody's, sir. I am a single woman."—St. James Gazette.

Farreaching.

Jack—You don't? If you had ever had a tooth pulled, you would know that the roots run clear to your toes.—Tacoma Ledger.

Mr. Elisha Berry, of this place, says he never had anything to do him so much good and give such quick relief from rheumatism as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He was bothered with shooting pains from hip to knee until he used this liniment, which affords prompt relief.—B. F. Baker, druggist, St. Paris, Ohio. For sale by C. E. Holton.

LIVING IN THE COUNTRY.

The Growing Fondness For Rural Life a Good Sign.

In The Ladies' Home Journal Edward Bok, with much satisfaction, notes the strong tendency to country living and believes that "it is one of the best signs of the times. Nothing in the world can keep a man or woman so young and fresh as to be able to be in touch each day with the perpetual freshness and youth of nature. Suburban life means more out of door living, and that is what we Americans all need. We want more exercise, and suburban living makes that easier. We want our interest in things kept fresh, and that nature does for us as nothing else can.

"The more our busy men see of nature's restful ways the more restful will they become. The closer we keep our children to the soil the healthier will they be physically and the stronger will they develop mentally. The more our girls breathe in the pure air which God intended for all, but which man in the cities pollutes, the better women we shall have, the fewer worried mothers we shall see. The more our young men see of out of door sports the more clearly will they realize the greatness of splendid physical health.

"The more the tired housewife sees of flowers and plants and trees the closer will become her interest in all things natural and simple, and, as she sees the simplicity with which nature works unconsciously, will the lesson be forced upon her and enter into her own methods. We all agree that there is no teacher like nature herself. Let us all, then, get as close to her as possible. Whatever she teaches is wholesome to the mind and uplifting to the soul and strengthening to the body. In the very act of studying her wonderful ways there is health."

THE ALBATROSS.

A Bird of Majestic Aerial Velocity and Insatiable Appetite.

Out of the blue void the albatross comes unhasting on motionless pinions, yet at such speed that one moment a speck hardly discernible, turn but your eyes away, and ere you can again look round he is gliding majestically overhead. Nothing in nature conveys to the mind so wonderful an idea of effortless velocity as does his calm appearance from vacancy. Like most of the true pelagic birds, he is a devourer of offal, the successful pursuit of fish being impossible to his majestic evolutions. His appetite is enormous, but his powers of abstinence are equally great, and often for days he goes without other nourishment than a drink of the bitter sea. At the Gargantuan banquet provided by a carcass of a dead whale he will gorge himself until incapable of rising from the sea, yet still his angry scream may be heard as if protesting against his inability to find room for more provision against hungry days soon to follow.

Despite his incomparable grace of flight when gliding through midair with his mighty wings outspread, when ashore or on deck he is clumsy and ill at ease. Even seated upon the sea, his proportions appear somewhat ungainly, while his huge hooked beak seems too heavy to be upheld. On land he can hardly balance himself, and the broad silky webs of his feet soon become lacerated. Thus his visits to the lone and generally inaccessible rocks which are his breeding places are as brief as may be, since even conjugal delights are dearly purchased with hunger and painful restraint. A true child of the air, land is hateful to him, and only on the wing does he appear to be really at home and easeful.—London Spectator.

Cruel Captain!

It would not occur to many people that a voyage in one of the swan boats which sail the little pond in the public garden of a New England city could be attended with horrors, but that idea was firmly fixed in the mind of a small maiden of 7 years.

"Would you like a ride in one of the swan boats, Marjorie?" asked the little maid's aunt as they crossed the bridge over the pond one day.

"No, indeed," said Marjorie, with sudden shrinking. "I couldn't bear to see them throw the babies in.

"The man says that's what he does," she asserted with rising excitement as her aunt looked much perplexed. "Hear him! He's saying it now."

Her aunt listened, and of a truth the man's statement, viewed from Marjorie's standpoint, was far from reassuring.

"Take a ride in the swan boats," he called loudly from the landing. "Grown folks, 10 cents; children, 5," and then, with a deceptive smile, he added, "Babies thrown in."—Youth's Companion.

Napoleon In Evergreen.

The great Napoleon, done in evergreen, is the unique statue that stands in the garden of M. d'Aguilleres, in the suburbs of Paris. The statue is a perfect model of the "little corporal" in characteristic attitude, wearing a cocked hat and sword and snuffbox in hand. The features are very lifelike.

The greatest care is necessary in order to preserve the likeness, and the artist gardener spends considerable time in clipping off dead leaves and cutting away an occasional branch. The signature of Napoleon is reproduced at the foot of the statue in flowers.—Paris Letter.

Her Maiden Aim.

Opening of the Social Season and Inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2.20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private lavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jeckyl Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York ond Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyl Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. For full information, reservations, etc., apply to J. L. Adams, G. E. A., F. C. & P. R. R., 353 Broadway, New York, or to A. S. Thweatt, E. P. A., Southern Ry, 271 Broadway, New York.

To Dispensary Advocates.

If your measure were purely and thoroughly restrictive, I would follow you gladly, but it is partly permissive—worse than that, partly provisionary, and there you seem to join hands with the devil.

I honor your intentions, but I fear that you do not fully realize what you are doing. You seem to be abandoning the clear light of conscience and trying to walk in the uncertain light of "consequences." I fear that you are giving over to the enemy ground that has been won by the hard-fought battles of years. Some men now argue thus: Since the law licenses it, it must be right to sell. You need not be surprised if under dispensary sway some will say: Since respectable men, church members, sell it, it must be right to drink. Respectfully,

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

See what Lindau has to say about pork and beans in his ad today.

Howard Gardner's ad will be of interest to any who may be suffering from rheumatism or toothache.

Miss Santie Kernodle, of Reidsville, passed through the city at noon today returning home from a visit to Winston.

Santanelli's performance at the academy tonight begins at 8:45 to allow people who wish to attend, to go to prayer meeting first.

Mrs. O. W. Carr returned to her home in Trinity this morning. She was accompanied home by her grandson, little John Peacock, who will remain with her while Dr. and Mrs. Peacock are in Europe.

Mr. E. E. Bryan, of Fayetteville, has located in this city and will engage in the brokerage and commission business. He is looking around today with a view to securing an office. Watch for his advertisement in this paper tomorrow.

The early train from the east was a few hours late this morning the delay having been caused by a small freight wreck beyond Haw River. An axle on a tank car broke and derailed several cars. No one was injured and the track was soon cleared.

R. C. Welfare and Z. V. Wyatt arrived in the city this week and will be here for several days on business. Mr. Welfare is salesman for a large electrical establishment of New York, while Mr. Wyatt represents a large business house of Philadelphia, and wishes to secure more agents and representatives for the firm here. Anyone wishing a nice traveling position would do well to address him here.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

Dr. and Mrs. Dred Peacock, of Greensboro Female College, left at noon today for New York city, where they will be joined by Mrs. John Peacock, of St. Louis, Mo., and on Saturday next the party will sail for Europe. They will take passage on the North German Lloyd steamship, Kaiser Wilhelm II.

They go through the strait of Gibraltar to Venice, where they will stay two days and then to Rome, to spend a week or ten days. Dr. Peacock and party will visit many of the principle European cities though most of the time will be spent in Paris, studying. They will be gone three months.

A Great Schemer.

Policeman Weatherly locked up the greatest case of the season, this afternoon. He was drunk but he is evidently a sharper. He complained to a Telegram reporter that his cell was cold, but just then he thought of a great scheme: He's going to lie down on the floor and freeze to death, and then sue the city for $50,000 damages—something that the average man would never have thought of. He says his name is Tredway, from Danville and that he is a medicine drummer. Several small bottles of headache medicine were found in his pockets.

"BREAK THE NEWS TO MOTHER."

Sung By Hypnotized Ladies at The Academy Last Night.

Santanelli gave another of his wonderful mirth-provoking hypnotic entertainments at the Academy of Music last night. The performance opened with lady subjects on the stage and they went through the imagination of playing a piano and singing. There was some hesitancy as to who should play the piano but it was soon decided and the performer sat down to what was to the audience an invisible piano. There was some discussion as to what they would sing and finally some one suggested that they sing: "Break the News to Mother." All being agreed on this it was sung with much earnestness. Then there was a variety of scenes comic and otherwise, with only men on the stage.

Tonight Santanelli promises more fun than has ever before been crowded into any one performance in Greensboro. An entire change of program and new features will be introduced. There will be plenty of time for those who wish to attend prayer meeting to go to the show afterward. Let the house be packed tonight; the show will be the best of the engagement up to date.

FIST VS. PISTOL.

And the Former Won the Fight in Short Order.

A fight occurred at Wagoner's boarding house, on Lewis street, yesterday afternoon, and as a result the proprietor now carries a disfigured nose and a man named Black is in jail.

Black is a traveling sewing machine mender and a heavily built, well dressed man. He got loaded yesterday afternoon and went to Wagoner's and bought a lunch. There was a dispute over some change and Mr. Wagoner ordered his customer to vacate, at the same time raising a pistol to the latter's face. Black landed a blow on the side of the proprietor's nose, knocking him down. He then took the pistol and departed for other parts.

When the proprietor got up and found where he "was at," he found Officer Whittington and together they chased Black as far as the Normal College, where he was caught.

This morning he was mortified at having been drunk and wanted to straighten the matter out, without having a trial, but Mr. Wagoner wouldn't yield so easily. Black will be tried this afternoon.
